

Virtually Kill FEPC Measure

Scott Lucas, The Democrat Leader, Says New Effort Be Made For Bill

WASHINGTON, May 19—(AP)—The Senate virtually killed the Fair Employment Practices (FEPC) bill for the session today by refusing to block filibustering by southern opponents.

The test came on an attempt to choke off debate on a motion to bring before the Senate for consideration this key measure of President Truman's civil rights program.

A cloture (debate limiting) petition fell short by 12 votes of getting the required 64 for adoption. A roll call showed 52 "yes" and 32 "no" votes.

It was a victory for southern Democrats and dealt a heavy blow to chances of getting action on any of the President's civil rights program at this session.

Try New Effort
The southern triumph had been anticipated, but Democratic leader Lucas of Illinois said in advance that another attempt to force consideration of the FEPC bill would be made, possibly next week.

His principal hope was to pick up additional votes from Senators who were absent. An absent Senator, in effect, voted against the cloture (debate-limitation) move.

If the bill should get before the Senate, southerners are ready to cut loose with a full-scale filibuster. Senator Maybank (D-S.C.) told a reporter he had a 50-page speech prepared for use if necessary.

The measure would prohibit discrimination in employment because of race, religion, color or national origin and would create a federal commission to enforce the ban.

Lucas told the Senate yesterday that the bill is not "sectional legislation" aimed at the south but is intended to correct nationwide discriminations that are "harming the cause of democracy" in its struggle with Communism.

Southern Senators, however, have bitterly attacked the legislation as Communist inspired. They contended that it would stir up strife and unrest and send a swarm of federal "thought police" over the nation to pry into the reasons why employers hired or fired workers.

Figures on The Census Soon

Tentative Ones Locally Soon as Data Available

WASHINGTON, May 19—(AP)—The census bureau in a major change in plan said that tentative population figures for cities down to 1,000 will be announced locally by census district supervisors.

The announcements, to be made as the data becomes available, are to be spread over the rest of this month and June.

Previous plans had been for local announcement only for cities of 10,000 or more, with the smaller town populations to be released from Washington next spring.

Tentative population totals for counties also will be announced locally, as they become available, in accordance with earlier arrangements.

The announcements will be made by census district supervisors except in the cases of cities or counties so heavily populated as to have two or more district supervisory offices.

For these—generally cities and counties with populations above 350,000 or having more than one congressman—the local announcements will be made by area census officers, which will put together totals from their component supervisory districts.

Repeat Releases

Washington census headquarters will merely make repeat releases.

Generous Rain In This Section

Rain, measuring 1.57 inches, fell during the night and continued until mid-morning when the skies began to clear. The much needed rain refreshed the lawns and gardens in town and was a great help for the growing crops on surrounding farms.

A terrific electrical and wind-storm accompanied the rain.

Added Enumerators Busy to Get All Possible in The Census

Four enumerators are now engaged under direction of Ed Behen, in charge of the census taking for Sedalia, making a check on places of residence that the early round-up failed to get a complete report of all occupants and to likewise ascertain as accurately as possible those who have been missed.

This undertaking is to help build up the figures in Sedalia to where they rightfully belong and it is desired that no one be missed before the final tabulation. The four special enumerators

Tiedt Executed On Triple Slaying

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., May 19—(AP)—Charles H. Tiedt, 55-year-old St. Joseph, Mo., laborer, was executed in Missouri's lethal gas chamber early today. He was pronounced dead at 12:14 a. m.

Tiedt's shotgun blasts killed three persons at St. Joseph Oct. 25, 1945, in a neighborhood quarrel. They were Fred Matchett and his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Matchett.

Tiedt never denied the slayings. He was tried only in the death of Fred Matchett. Two trials and an appeal to the state supreme court failed to change the verdict of death.

The stock, 200-pound man was calm throughout his last hours. He read the Bible the last three days and talked with the Rev. Frank M. Chase, prison chaplain.

When the gas chamber door clanged shut Tiedt could be heard reciting a prayer.

"Surely Thy goodness and mercy x x x"

A prison chaplain, the Rev. Frank M. Chase, said Tiedt asked the forgiveness of God for the triple slaying. The minister said he was apparently resigned to paying the supreme penalty.

Tiedt said goodbye to his wife, Ada, last Sunday at the prison, the minister said.

On his last day, the chunky, graying man of middle height was taciturn. He lay on his death row bunk and read his Bible or talked quietly with the minister.

For his last meal he had fried chicken. That's what he told Warden Ralph N. Eldson he wanted.

Elect Seaberg President of Sedalia C. of C.

Succeeds Noel Tweet Who Resigned; Ben Robinson Resigns

The Board of the Chamber of Commerce met in the Chamber of Commerce office board room Thursday afternoon with president Noel Tweet presiding. The governing body of the board underwent a slight reorganization upon the resignation of Noel Tweet.

Resignations Accepted
The first vice-president, Ben Robinson, also submitted his resignation and it was accepted by the board. John Zander secretary-manager of the Chamber said the resignations were accepted with considerable regret. He expressed the opinion that both men had done a fine job while they were board members and officers.

According to the by-laws of the Chamber, the next ranking men on the Chamber automatically moved up to the following offices. Harold Seaberg was elected as the new president to fill the unexpired term of that office. A. W. Haller was elected first vice president and Jack Cunningham was elected second vice-president. The two latter officers will also fill the terms yet unexpired. Joe Ruddick and Roy S. Kemper will fill the vacancies on the board.

Discussion On Memorial

Considerable discussion was held on the merits of a memorial to the famed Negro composer and pioneer of ragtime music, Scott Joplin. It was decided by the board to set up a committee to investigate the possibility of such a memorial. A committee will be appointed soon for this work.

A report concerning the progress of Industrial Development was given by I. H. Reed in the absence of Abe Silverman. Ote Wiley gave a resume of the final results of the membership campaign.

Noel Tweet, John Zander and I. H. Reed reported on their recent trip to Washington and the progress of the Air Academy.

Mrs. Allen Goodridge, office manager at the Chamber of Commerce has resigned and her position will be assumed by Mrs. Robert Wall. Mrs. Frederic Burgess will take over Mrs. Wall's duties.

Bank Robber is Again Held

Escaped Trial in A Previous Holdup Last October 13

LONOKE, Ark., May 19—(AP)—Prosecutor J. B. Reed said today he would bring Jack Charles Walden to trial on charges of robbing the Planters Bank and Trust company at Devils Bluff.

Reed said the army had violated an understanding with him in "liberating" Walden, a former air forces sergeant.

Walden was arrested about 45 minutes after the DeWalls Bluff bank was held up last October and $1,848 loot was recovered. He escaped trial at the time when Arkansas state hospital authorities declared him insane.

"Several army officers and enlisted men talked to me . . ." Reed said, "and it was agreed to surrender Walden to military authorities."

"I gave them to understand that if they didn't handle the man, we would. It was my understanding with them; that if he ever was liberated for any reason, I was to be advised."

Gain in Sales Over Year Ago

ST. LOUIS, May 19—(AP)—Department store sales in the eighth federal reserve district last week were seven per cent higher than the corresponding week a year ago.

The Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis said much of the gain could be attributed to the fact that Mothers' Day came one week later this year.

Sales were up 33 per cent at Little Rock and 15 per cent at Memphis. Adverse weather hurt sales in some cities, the bank reported.

Heroes as The Nation's Plumbers

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19—(AP)—Movie Producer Cecil B. De Mille and Benjamin Franklin—in that order—are the all-time heroes of the nation's plumbers.

De Mille "has done more than anyone in selling the plumbing idea throughout the world," Norman J. Radder, secretary of the plumbing and heating industries, told the National Association of Master Plumbers' convention yesterday.

"He does it," Radder said, "by his favorite device of divesting some gorgeous creature—female—and filming her in a gold-plated or sunken or even fur-lined bathtub, taking a bath in champagne, or milk—or even soapy water."

Franklin? He got Radder's thanks for bringing the new world its first bathtub from France—a portable, copper-lined affair.

Support by Gov. Smith to Go to Allison

Primary Choice Is Revealed Today Through Letter

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., May 19—(AP)—Gov. Forrest Smith gave state Sen. Emery W. Allison his endorsement for the Democratic nomination in Missouri's hot U.S. senatorial race. It was revealed today.

The endorsement was given Allison two days ago in a letter in which the governor expressed his regrets at not being able to attend a torchlight rally in Allison's hometown of Rolla.

Allison had written the governor asking him to attend the pow-wow.

"Even though other candidates on the Democratic ticket are warm friends of mine I intend to vote for you for United States Senator, due to our close associations over the years in state government," the governor wrote.

Allison is the choice also of President Truman. The President endorsed the Rolla lawyer several months ago after a conference in Kansas City with Smith and John H. Hendren of Jefferson City, chairman of the state Democratic committee in the President's home state.

In the months since Smith has frequently declined to say who he would back in the Democratic primary.

Should Allison win the nomination he would face Republican Sen. Forrest C. Donnell in the November general election. Donnell has been a consistent thorn in the side of the Truman administration.

Other Democrats in the primary race are: Former Congressman Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., of St. Louis; James W. Hopkins, University City accountant and political unknown; Mrs. Marjorie Bell Hinrichs, St. Louis cosmetics manufacturer, and Ben M. Johnson, Springfield, Mo., sign painter.

The announcement that Smith had chosen to support one of the Democratic candidates came from Allison's state headquarters here. News men immediately tried to get first hand comment from the governor. But his office said he would have no further statement on the matter, that the copy of Smith's letter spoke for itself.

The governor told Allison in the brief note he would be glad to attend his campaign opening—"however, a previous engagement made prior to the announcement of your campaign opening will prevent my being present."

Allison said he was glad to get the governor's backing.

"I deeply appreciate Governor Smith's letter that he intends to support my candidacy for United States Senator," Allison wrote in a public statement.

"It has long been a principle with Governor Smith that 'there is no substitute for experience.' I believe that principle can well be applied in this campaign. The six years which I have served in the House (of representatives) and the twelve years in the state Senate have given me valuable experience in serving the people of Missouri. That is exactly what is needed by the man Missouri must send to the

Gather Flowers in The Rain For Attractive Flower Show

Members of the Sedalia Garden clubs gathered flowers in the rain this morning for the annual Flower Show which opened this afternoon at 1:00 o'clock at Convention hall, Liberty park.

Featuring a "Rainbow of Iris," the picture was just that with Iris groups of the same colors blended almost the full length of the middle section of the hall and across the stage. Above the iris on the stage was a large paper rainbow.

Around either side of the hall were luncheon tables representing nine months of the year with the nine clubs having drawn for the month for their table. The first month was February, with the table cover of rufwork. A Valentine centerpiece was made of white tulle and a large red heart on which were forget-me-

Address by Dr. Collins to S-C Graduates

'Citizens of 1950' is Theme Presented Thursday Night

The Smith-Cotton high school held commencement exercises for the graduates in the school auditorium Thursday night at 8:00 o'clock.

Rev. D. Warren Neal, pastor of the Broadway Presbyterian church, gave the invocation which was followed by an orchestra selection, "The Oracle," directed by Miss Geraldine Teufel.

The speaker of the evening, Dr. Earle Collins, president of Tarkio college, was introduced by Joseph F. Benson, principal of the school.

Mr. Collins chose for his subject, "The Citizen of 1950." He told the graduates that one of the greatest privileges of an American citizen was the right to vote and that this also was the most abused right. He gave many examples in other countries where the right to vote was either taken away or restricted.

He also told the audience that one of the greatest rights that we make use of and which is used only in free countries was the right of free speech. Mr. Collins summed up his speech by telling the class members that to maintain the world peace we must exercise our right to vote, we must continue to guard the right for free speech, and that the citizens of 1950 must have a knowledge of worldly affairs.

Awards of Honor
After the graduation address Mr. Benson made the awards of honor. He introduced four students who had received scholarships from different colleges. Miss Dorothy Ann Reed received a scholarship to Christian college in music; Bill Matthews received a scholarship in music from Central college, Fayette, and Bob Solomon and Miss Barbara Tweet received offers for scholarships from Central Missouri State college, Tarkio college and Central college.

Mr. Benson introduced the valedictorian and salutatorian, Robert Solomon and Barbara Tweet to the audience and then recognized groups from the "S" club, the "S" club outstanding students and the Rotary outstanding students.

Then the class was turned over to Dr. Heber U. Hunt for graduation from whom they received their diplomas and congratulations. After the diplomas had been presented the girls' glee club sang "Now the Day is Over," which was followed by the benediction by Rev. Neal.

It asked that any person with knowledge of a crime appear before the jury Monday or contact a member of the jury before that time. Ray G. Miller, head of an undertaking establishment here, is foreman of the grand jury.

'Axis Sally' to Serve Term

Sentence of Ten To 30 Years is Upheld by Court

(By Bill Ross)
WASHINGTON, May 19—(AP)—The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled today that Mildred E. (Axis Sally) Gillars must serve 10 to 30 years in prison for broadcasting Nazi propaganda during World War II.

The white-haired 49-year-old former actress was convicted more than a year ago in federal district court here. The verdict was handed down by a jury which deliberated 17 hours and 20 minutes.

In addition to the sentence of 10 to 30 years, she also was fined $10,000. She would be eligible for parole after serving 10 years in prison.

The three judges who heard her appeal were unanimous in upholding her treason conviction and sentence.

"We find no reversible error and the judgment accordingly is affirmed," the court's 12,000 word opinion said.

The case was argued May 9 before Justices Bennett Champ Clark, Wilbur K. Miller and (Please turn to Page 3, Column 2)

Former Captive Airmen Back

LONG BEACH, Calif., May 19—(AP)—Two U.S. airmen held captive 18 months in Communist China received a tumultuous welcome as they arrived home today.

Marine Sgt. Elmer C. Bender, 27, Cincinnati, and Navy Chief Electrician's Mate William C. Smith, 32, Long Beach, who indicated a Red charge of spying in order to be released, landed at nearby Los Alamitos naval air station in a special Marine plane.

The two men looked trim as they stepped down from the plane and touched their feet on American soil.

Mrs. Ruby Smith, 32, who hadn't seen her husband for 22 months, was eagerly waiting as the plane taxied to a stop. There was an emotional moment when Smith descended the stairs and they went into a silent embrace. Neither spoke.

TEL AVIV, Israel. — (AP) — Deposits in local and foreign banks in Israel have jumped more than $80,000,000 in the last twelve months. Total deposits are $262,380,000.

Canyon Basin, northwest of Paris, Ind., contains an ice cave of blue limestone and ice formations.

less you have a pair of natural matching cards in your hand. When you leave the pack unfrozen, the opponent cannot safely discard a card that matches your meld. If he does, you can pick up this card and add it to your meld. At the same time, of course, you take the rest of the discard pile.

Q—Am I allowed to put down four sixes and three deuces as my meld when I need 120 points? I claim that the bonus of 300 points for the mixed canasta is enough for the meld? Is this so?

A—No. You cannot count a bonus as part of your initial meld. Those four sixes and three deuces count only 80 points, and that is not enough when you need 120 points.

Mr. Jacoby is unable to answer individual questions on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"It's really unbelievable," sighed Hard Luck Joe. "The things that happen to me shouldn't happen."

"To an alert player," I finished. Joe plunged right on. No force thus far discovered can stop him from telling a hard luck story to everybody he meets.

"I had a beautiful hand last night," he said, has a face glowing in fond memory. "But I lost my shirt with it."

Joe was between me and the door, so I had to listen. "What went wrong?" I asked.

"Well, we had lots of melds down on the table, and our opponents didn't have any melds at all. I had a million cards in my hand—I'd just picked up the deck—and I figured I'd get the pack back very easily. Wouldn't you figure that way?"

"Sounds reasonable."

"The only trouble was that I wasn't absolutely sure which discards were safe," Joe continued. "I didn't want to give the pack away if I could help it. But I had four wild cards, and I was sure I could get the pack back again by the time I came to the end of my wild cards. So I played one of the deuces, freezing the pack."

I began to see what was coming. Joe spends half his time digging holes that he can fall into, and the other half complaining about his hard luck.

"Would you believe it?" Joe asked indignantly. "They played us safe for seven rounds—and then they ygot the pack after all. They went right out, and caught

No Serious Injuries in Two Wrecks

Truck Noses Into Ditch on North 65; Car-Truck Damaged

Two different automobile accidents, occurring on highways near Sedalia Thursday, were reported by the state highway patrol.

The first was at 10:00 o'clock that morning, when a 1947 Chevrolet two-ton truck, driven by Guy K. Wilson, 31 years old, of Des Moines, Ia., was demolished after it nose-dived into a ditch, near the Cedar Creek Bridge, about three-miles north of Sedalia on highway 65. He was driving northward.

A Crushed Left Hand

Wilson suffered a crushed left hand, and was taken to the Bothwell hospital for treatment by a passing motorist. The driver of the truck told a highway patrolman, that something went wrong with the steering, he lost balance, and plunged the head of the truck into a ditch, which was loaded with oak posts. The bed of the truck was flipped from the cab, which was caved in badly. Posts were scattered into a ditch, and will remain there, until they are picked up by a relief truck from Iowa.

The wrecked truck was towed to Sedalia.

Thursday Afternoon Wreck

At 2:15 o'clock, that afternoon, a 1942 Ford coupe, driven by Raymond Homan, 25, 1717 West Ninth street and a 1948 Dodge truck, driven by Kenneth Anderson, 33, of south of Sedalia, collided on old highway 65 road, southwest of the Katy stockyards. Both vehicles were being driven east.

A highway patrolman made a routine check of the accident, and reported no injuries resulted from the collision. He said the car ran into the rear of the truck, just as the driver of the truck started to turn off the road into a farm home driveway.

Damages to the truck amounted to a rear broken spring, and a partly torn truck bed. The front end of the car was damaged.

No arrest were made. Both vehicles had to be towed to Sedalia.

Earlier in the day, the House approved two of the plans to reorganize the Labor and Commerce departments. These two proposals are still subject to possible Senate action. It was the first test of any of the plans in the House. Resolutions of disapproval for others are awaiting action.

Calls Strike 'Reckless' and For 'Prestige'

Railroads Say "An Attempt of Union to Outdo Big Rival"

CHICAGO, May 18.—(AP)—Western railroads today called the strike of AFL switchmen set for next Tuesday "a reckless drive for prestige." They said they are "caught in the middle" of an "attempt by one small union to outsmart and outdo a big rival union."

The statement was made by Daniel P. Loomis, chairman of the Association of Western Railways, as AFL switchmen made ready to leave their jobs at 6 a. m. local time next Tuesday on to midwestern and western rail lines.

Second Major Tieup Government intervention appeared as the only hope for averting what could be the nation's second major rail tieup in little more than a week.

Arthur J. Glover, president of the AFL Switchmen's Union at North America, announced the strike call in Washington last night. He said it will be to support the union's principal demand for a 40 hour work week at the pay now received for 48 hours.

However, Loomis said in a statement that the union has demanded over-all benefits equivalent to a wage increase of approximately 50 per cent. He said these include a five day, 40 hour work week, a 44 per cent boost in the basic daily wage rate, double time for any additional daily or weekly work and on Sundays and holidays, and other miscellaneous wage increases.

The railroads in turn, Loomis said, have demanded 10 rules changes to eliminate "feather-bedding" (employment of unnecessary workers) and restrictive operating practices.

The National (railway) Mediation Board is expected to try its hand in this dispute. This board mediated the agreement last Tuesday that ended the strike of 18,000 locomotive firemen against six key rail systems. The board also induced the firemen to postpone their original strike call for two weeks.

Says 6,000 Will Be Affected Glover said his union's 6,000 members would be affected. However, a spokesman for the railroads said only 4,000 members of Glover's union are employed on the 10 lines singled out for the walkout.

Railroad sources said the switchmen's union represents about five per cent of nation's switch tenders, yard foremen, yard brakemen and helpers. The other 95 per cent, they said, belong to the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Order of Railway Conductors.

A spokesman for one of the 10 railroads involved, the Rock Island, said a strike of AFL switchmen would retard but not paralyze rail service. He added that the terminals would be hard hit.

Other railroads included in the strike call are the Chicago Great Western; Davenport, Rock Island and Northwestern; Denver and Rio Grande Western; Great Northern; Minneapolis and St. Louis; Northern Pacific Terminal Company of Oregon; St. Paul Union Depot Company; Sioux City Terminal Railway Company and Western Pacific Railroad Company.

None in Firemen's Strike None of these lines was involved in the locomotive firemen's strike. A presidential fact-finding board is in Chicago hearing similar 40-hour work week demands of the trainmen and conductors unions. This board also has asked the switchmen's union to submit its case for a hearing, but the union refused. The switchmen want a separate board to hear their case.

Chief Justice Roger I. McDonald of the Utah supreme court, chairman of the fact-finding board, said in Chicago:

"If the switchmen strike, they will walk out without ever having presented the merits of their case to our board."

However, Glover said the switchmen's union has complied with all mediation requirement of the Railway Labor Act and could strike legally.

Elect Seaberg President of Sedalia C. of C.

Succeeds Noel Tweet Who Resigned; Ben Robinson Resigns

The Board of the Chamber of Commerce met in the Chamber of Commerce office board room Thursday afternoon with president, Noel Tweet presiding. The governing body of the board underwent a slight reorganization upon the resignation of Noel Tweet. The story concerning Tweet's resignation is carried elsewhere in this paper.

Resignations Accepted The first vice-president, Ben Robinson, also submitted his resignation and it was accepted by the board. John Zander secretary-manager of the Chamber said the resignations were accepted with considerable regret. He expressed the opinion that both men had done a fine job while they were board members and officers.

According to the by-laws of the Chamber, the next ranking men on the Chamber automatically moved up to the following offices. Harold Seaberg was elected as the new president to fill the unexpired term of that office. A. W. Haller was elected first vice president and Jack Cunningham was elected second vice-president. The two latter officers will also fill the terms yet unexpired. Joe Ruddick and Roy S. Kemper will fill the vacancies on the board.

Discussion On Memorial Considerable discussion was held on the merits of a memorial to the famed Negro composer and pioneer of ragtime music, Scott Joplin. It was decided by the board to set up a committee to investigate the possibility of such a memorial. A committee will be appointed soon for this work.

A report concerning the progress of Industrial Development was given by I. H. Reed in the absence of Abe Silverman. Ote Wiley gave a resume of the final results of the membership campaign.

Noel Tweet, John Zander and I. H. Reed reported on their recent trip to Washington and the progress of the Air Academy. Mrs. Allen Goodridge, office manager at the Chamber of Commerce has resigned and her position will be assumed by Mrs. Robert Wall. Mrs. Frederic Burgess will take over Mrs. Wall's duties.

Employment Prospects in Sedalia Are Much Brighter

"According to the monthly survey conducted by the local office of the Division of Employment Security, the employment picture in Sedalia looked better for the month of April than it has in any month since October, 1949," Leon M. Hall, Manager, stated today.

"Total employment increased during April by 163. In the four industrial breakdowns, manufacturing, non-manufacturing, wholesale-retail trade and service institutions, gains in employment were reported in the first three, while service institutions reported a decline of 32. Non-manufacturing industry reported the largest gain with 134; manufacturing with 83 and wholesale and retail trade with 8. All four of the industrial categories reported new hires for April to be in excess of those for March, which total new hires aggregating 346. Here again non-manufacturing firms led in new hires with 51% of the total; manufacturing with 25 per cent and Donna Marie Robinson, Dorothy Ann Reed, Leo Eickhoff and Pinsky Scott will be co-hosts and hostesses for a dance next Thursday night after commencement exercises. The entire senior class and their dates have been invited. The young couples will dance to the music of the Four Blue Notes from 10:00 o'clock to 1:00 o'clock.

Ladies Golf day has been changed to Tuesday of each week. Sometime during the month of May the lady golfers must play 36 holes to qualify for their golf handicap. The first handicap event is June 6th so be sure to qualify this month. Enthusiasm is still running high and we had another good turnout this week.

Husband and wife teams seen on the course include Maurice and Jane Hogan, Dick and Martha Siskar, Pierre and Eileen Lamy, Phil and Eileen Costello, John Joe and Baffly McGrath, Leroy and Carrie Hodges and John and Mary Alice Lamy.

The dates for the Inter-City Golf matches were established by the chairman of the golf committee of the four cities participating. This meeting was held in Jefferson City and our chairman Damon Hicorynopus reports the dates set for the matches are as follows: Wednesday, June 14th at Fulton; Wednesday, June 21st at Columbia; Wednesday June 28th at Sedalia and Tuesday July 11th at Jefferson City. In these matches the players will play the ball as it lies which is a step in the right direction for playing better golf.

Everyone was glad to see Bill Gibson win the handicap tournament last week.

The putting green is being moved 50 feet due west of its present location and will be on the way to No. 1 tee.

Dr. and Mrs. Ahrens, Dr. and Mrs. Glenn and Mr. and Mrs. James Lay, members of our club from Warsaw played the course last Thursday.

Have you noticed the bright multi-colored golf caps worn lately? Rather dashing—and I think it adds something! If this trend keeps up a lot of us can throw our husbands old army pants away—Happy Day!

As far as we know the winners in bridge were Mrs. E. H. McLaughlin, Miss Anna Gibbs, and the winners in mah jongg were, Mrs. Heber Hunt and Mrs. Chester Wright because we had a unusual Ladies Day at the club this week due to Vic and Virginia Scott's little dog Ricky. Now Ricky is a female and according to the laws of nature, delivered six puppies last Thursday. This is not unusual but Ricky chose Ladies Day to perform. Vic stayed by her side and Virginia went forth to play cards at the club, confident that everything was under control. Didn't Vic have pots and pots of boiling water! The players started to play as usual but every hand or two Vic would call and announce the arrival of another puppy. After six had arrived and everyone was pleased, relieved and ready to resume play, Vic called again and complained "But I didn't use the boiling water." Virginia came back with "Make some coffee with it an I'll be home—we both need it." If I'd known they were coming I'd have baked a cake!

Freedom Is Very Short For Escapees

Paul Whiteman And Harry Harger Break Out Of County Jail

Freedom was brief for Paul Alfred Whiteman, 25, and Harry Arthur Harger, Jr., 23, who escaped from the Pettis county jail shortly before 5:00 o'clock Saturday evening. Both were back in jail before 8:30 after they were apprehended by Police Officers Ted Brown and A. C. Gardner, near Twentieth street and Washington avenue.

Escaped Prison Farm

Whiteman and Harger are awaiting trial in the Pettis county criminal division of the circuit court on charges of auto theft in connection with the wrecking of a stolen car west of Dresden on highway 50 at "Dead Man's Curve" on April 17. At the time of their arrest, the two were fugitives from the Missouri state prison where they had escaped three days earlier from a prison farm. They were serving sentences on burglary.

The two were arrested by Sergeant William Barton, when they made the curve too fast and the car overturned. Barton was approaching in a patrol car enroute to Kansas City, and recognized the two and took them into custody.

Back In "Big Four"

They had been held in "Big Four" of the county jail pending their trial in criminal court. On the pretense of wanting to take a bath they were released from "Big Four." Instead of taking the bath, they went upon the top part of the cell block, knocked a hole in the roof and climbed out.

Within a few minutes the disappearance was noted by Clark Woolery, deputy sheriff, who notified the Sedalia police department. Brown and Gardner were just pulling away when Acting Desk Sergeant R. B. "Jiggs" Vickrey called to them and gave them the information.

The patrol car then headed out in the direction of south part of town and came upon them doubling back across Washington avenue and Twentieth street. The state patrol was also notified of the escape.

Being A Mother

A mother is more than a woman
Who has given birth to a child,
A mother is someone special
On whom the Lord has smiled,
A mother is one who earns the name
Through patience, love and care,
And everything she possesses
Is for her child to share;
A mother is never guilty
Of a moment of neglect
And she leaves not strewn behind her
Little lives that she has wrecked;
No, the woman who is a mother
Has it deep within her heart,
And on the stage of life she plays
A difficult leading part;
Down through the years day by day
It's the joy and peace she brings,
It's the understanding, the love, the faith
In big and little things;
No matter how dark the clouds may be
No matter how bad the deed,
There's a mother's embrace and a mother's prayer
There in that hour of need;
For whether the child is her child
Or one who belonged to another
It's the things she does and the things she says
That makes a woman a mother.

During this tour for the Missouri bell the people will not only have the opportunity of seeing the bell but for the first time since 1835 it will be possible for them to hear the tone of the bell.

President Launch Drive

The treasury launches Monday a nationwide $650,000,000 savings bonds drive to run through July 4.

President Truman is scheduled to get into the drive-starting activities Monday night, speaking briefly from Chicago on objectives of the campaign in a hookup of radio networks and television.

The President will speak at 9:55 p. m., E. S. T. The program, which also will feature other speakers, will last from 9:30 to 10 p. m., E. S. T.

The 1940 series E savings bonds campaign has been entitled the "Independence Drive" and based on this slogan: "Save for your independence: Buy U. S. Savings bonds."

Fifty three reproductions of the original Liberty Bell—exact except as to the crack—will be transported on local tours in every state and in the territories in furtherance of the campaign.

Sales of savings bonds already are running well ahead of redemptions, although sales for the first four months of 1950, totaling $1,431,146,000, lagged 8.8 per cent below the comparable period of 1949.

Redemptions for the 1950 period were $302,808,000 below sales, although the $1,128,338,000 total of cash-ins reflected a 3 per cent rise from the first four months of 1949.

For 1949 as a whole, sales totaled $4,207,598,000 and cash-ins $3,447,896,000, giving the government a $759,702,000 edge.

The $655,000,000 goal is a modest one—little more than sales would normally run in the drive period, as indicated by these 1949 monthly sales figures: May $321,671,000; June $358,762,000 and July $377,813,000.

Dick Sklar Has Been Named The Tourney Head

Dick Sklar, 2209 West Third street, has been named tournament chairman for the Sedalia Pro-Amateur Golf tournament to be held at the Sedalia Country club on June 26.

The tournament again this year, which is the second annual one, is being sponsored by the Sedalia Athletic Association. The tourney was held last year in September and even though it was late in the golfing year, the meet was considered a signal success.

The date for the event this year is believed to be much more advantageous and the success of this year's tournament is predicted to be even greater than the first one.

Added Damage By Flood Waters

A mass of cool air from Hudson Bay pushed into the Great Lakes region Saturday and was moving northeastward to New England.

In Chicago, temperatures dropped 24 degrees in three hours, from a high of 74 at noon to 50 at 3 p.m. The cooler air was accompanied by dense fog from Lake Michigan.

At Winnipeg, Manitoba, flood conditions remained serious. The Army Saturday gave up its fight to reopen a main bridge across the flooding Red river, and a flood expert warned Winnipeg it will be in a "serious predicament" for at least two weeks. After a leveling off period Friday, the river began inching upward again Saturday, although its rate of rise had slowed appreciably.

The flood there already has forced some 65,000 persons from their homes.

Six Arrested For Traffic Violations

Six persons were arrested Saturday night when they failed to obey red traffic signals. Running red lights has become a habit recently according to the police and it is a habit which will be broken up by compelling offenders to post bond for their appearance in police court.

Stop signal violators will also find their way to police headquarters if the practice isn't stopped abruptly, Chief of Police Edgar Neighbors said Saturday night.

Marriage License Issued

Albert J. Warren and Matilda Louise Anderson, both of Sedalia.

Woodland Hospital Notes

Admitted for surgery: Dr. H. O. Wilbur, 1001 West Third street, and Mrs. A. H. Steffins, of Houstonia.

Already, leading professional golfers from the Midwest Professional Golfers Association as well as the eastern division of the same organization have expressed interest in this event in letters received by the tournament chairman.

Junior C of C Met Thursday

The Sedalia Junior Chamber of Commerce met in regular session Thursday night in the Assembly room of the Pettis county court house, with President Robert Wall presiding.

The program portion of the meeting was taken up with a general introduction of new members. Bert Hathway presided over the introductions. About thirty-five or forty members were present.

Several committees were set up by the group. The president will appoint a permanent membership committee following the Charter presentation banquet to be held on May 22nd at Bothwell hotel. Michael Bogutski gave a report on the dinner that night and a few details concerning the charter presentation.

No Solution Reached Thus Far on Radio Engineers' Strike

(Continued from Page One ) also refused. The union also agreed to drop its request for increased wages, if KDRO could show substantial, factual proof of its inability to meet this request, which KDRO refused to do.

"KDRO is now operating with non-union engineers at the controls."

"Outlined, as follows, are the three (3) requests of the union: "1. The wages paid the engineers at KDRO amount to $1.50 per hour, and they request an increase of 12 1/2 cents per hour.

"2. Engineers of KDRO have been receiving time and one-half for five holidays. The union is requesting double time for six holidays.

"3. The union wants to eliminate from the contract that clause which could have permitted KDRO to make its engineers do all the announcing, in addition to their regular duties, on payment of an additional $10 per week for each of the engineers.

Assign Their Reasons "Those are the three requests of the union for the following reasons: The union wage scale in Sedalia for I.B.E.W. electricians is $2.00 per hour for jobs of $2,000 or less. And when the job is above that figure, the I.B.E.W. rate is $2.25 per hour. The union has been willing to submit signed agreements with other radio stations throughout the middle west showing that KDRO pays below the mid-west average for union stations.

"As to the second request, the union has asked for double time for six holidays, or, an additional week's vacation in place of the six holidays.

"In regard to the third request, this clause could result in the possible discharge of the three announcers, thereby lowering the standards of operation, also adding the fourth full time duty to the engineers. This clause can also be used as disciplinary action against anyone of the announcers or anyone of the engineers, or all of the engineers, and all of the announcers.

"These are the facts behind the strike at KDRO."

No Serious Injuries in Two Wrecks

Truck Noses Into Ditch on North 65; Car-Truck Damaged

Two different automobile accidents, occurring on highways near Sedalia Thursday, were reported by the state highway patrol.

The first was at 10:00 o'clock that morning, when a 1947 Chevrolet two-ton truck, driven by Guy K. Wilson, 31 years old, of Des Moines, Ia., was demolished after it nose-dived into a ditch near the Cedar Creek Bridge, about three-miles north of Sedalia on highway 65. He was driving northward.

A Crushed Left Hand Wilson suffered a crushed left hand, and was taken to the Bothwell hospital for treatment by a passing motorist. The driver of the truck told a highway patrolman, that something went wrong with the steering, he lost balance, and plunged the head of the truck into a ditch, which was loaded with oak posts. The bed of the truck was flipped from the cab, which was caved in badly. Posts were scattered into a ditch, and will remain there, until they are picked up by a relief truck from Iowa.

The wrecked truck was towed to Sedalia.

Thursday Afternoon Wreck At 2:15 o'clock, that afternoon, a 1942 Ford coupe, driven by Raymond Homan, 25, 1717 West Ninth street and a 1948 Dodge truck, driven by Kenneth Anderson, 33, of south of Sedalia, collided on old highway 65 road, southwest of the Katy stockyards. Both vehicles were being driven east.

A highway patrolman made a routine check of the accident, and reported no injuries resulted from the collision. He said the car ran into the rear of the truck, just as the driver of the truck started to turn off the road into a farm home driveway.

Damages to the truck amounted to a rear broken spring, and a partly torn truck bed. The front end of the car was damaged.

No arrest were made. Both vehicles had to be towed to Sedalia.

Last Chance Offer To Tax Dodgers

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(AP)—Rep. Forand (D-RI) proposed today that the government offer tax dodgers "one last chance" to come in and settle up—before the justice department cracks down with prosecution.

Saying he believes income tax evasion runs close to $5,000,000,000 a year, Forand suggested that the house ways and means committee write an "amnesty" provision into the new tax bill it is now framing.

"This would bring in billions of dollars," he said.

His proposal would allow persons who have avoided their federal income tax payments to pay what they owe, plus a 50 per cent penalty, plus interest—and make a clean breast of it all. That would bar the door against criminal prosecution.

Under Forand's suggestion, a tax dodger could do this only prior to the time an investigation or prosecution was started in his case.

Injured Student Receives Diploma

CARTHAGE Mo., May 18.—(AP)—Miss Alma Lou Williams, who was seriously injured in a plane mishap here yesterday, received her high school diploma today.

Lester Fisher, superintendent of the Golden City schools, and William Bagby, president of the school board, brought her diploma to her at the hospital today. She would have been presented it tonight at the regular commencement exercises.

The 17-year-old girl had come here on an outing with six other members of the senior class of Golden City high school. She stepped into the spinning propeller of a small plane in which she had just made a flight.

She suffered a skull fracture, a fracture, a lacerated scalp, a fractured upper bone of the left arm and shoulder blade. The flesh on her left shoulder and arm to the elbow was laid open to the bone, and a tendon on her left hand was severed.

Surgeons worked on her for four and one-half hours. Her condition today was described as quite serious.

Miss Williams was the first of the seven seniors to make a flight. Pilot Doyle Hoenesheer said the girl had disregarded his instructions on how to leave the plane.

Both of their husbands were elected April 4, ale on the Republican ticket and Pettijohn on the Democratic.

Washington is 'The Capitol Of Indecision'

Baruch Denounced What He Terms the Shocking Immorality

NEW YORK, May 18.—(AP)—Bernard M. Baruch called Washington "the capital of indecision" tonight in warning anew that the United States can lose any future war by failure to plan mobilization now.

The financier and "elder statesman" also denounced what he termed the "shocking immorality" of proposing a standby manpower draft law without providing at the same time for the wartime draft of money, farms, factories and mines.

Baruch's address was delivered for a Columbia University Seminar on economic mobilization.

Red Mobilization Passes U. S. "Today Soviet mobilization readiness surpasses our own," Baruch said. "That is one reason the diplomatic initiative in the cold war is being pressed by the Soviets x x x."

"These are the years of decision, which we now are passing through. Yet Washington today is the capital of indecision."

Recalling that it took two and one-half years for American production to reach a peak in World War II, Baruch asserted:

"There is only one war plan any aggressor can have—to seek to overwhelm us during that 'too little and too late' period while our military power is still on order." x x x

"To wait until bombs are falling before we begin to legislate may cause the loss of the war."

World War II Prolonged Baruch said the "trial and error" planning methods of World War II prolonged the conflict by at least a year, added $100,000,000,000 (B) to the war's cost and left "hundreds of thousands killed and wounded needlessly."

"Although the cold war is now in its fifth year, we still lack the equivalent of a global strategy for peacemaking," Baruch said.

"We still lack the equivalent of a general staff to devise such a strategy and to direct the disposition of our strained resources for maximum effectiveness."

"We still talk 'total diplomacy' without totalling what the whole of the peacemaking requires in all parts of the globe—not just one area."

"We continue to dissipate our resources without decision. 'Against whom is the cold war being fought? Reading the newspapers these days one would think we are waging the 'cold war' against the American people. Let us call a halt to this 'cold war' at home. Let us concentrate on winning the 'cold war' abroad."

Overcrowded At The Circus

Probably hundreds of Sedalians who attended the circus Wednesday night will agree that the next time a circus comes to town, it should present another day performance, or provide a big enough tent and seats to accommodate the circus goers.

Thursday night, all the seats under the big top of the Al Kelly and Miller Bros. circus were filled to capacity long before the performances got under way.

According to reports, the seating capacity of the circus was for 3,000 people. If this is true, then there must have been 5,000 at the circus that night, because the big tent was overpacked in the reserved and general admission seats, in addition to hundreds who sat on the ground, all around the circus rings.

A good thing about going to the circus that night was: First of all, the police blotter this morning showed no automobile accidents reported by the highway patrol, no fights or gambling, nor any pickpocketing, nor any buns picked up on the streets, as per usual when a big circus comes to town.

The bad part about going to the circus last night was the traffic situation. Those who were fortunate enough to get to the circus early, didn't have to walk very far, as they drove cars upon the circus grounds. However when they were ready to go home, traffic was tied up temporarily for those cars parked upon the grounds. The late arrivals were halted this side of the city limits by a slow pace of cars moving toward the circus. Many had to park a half mile or a quarter from the grounds and walk the rest of the way.

Some Sedalians who intended to go to the circus gave up in the line of traffic and kept on driving to get homeward bound.

Cash Register is Taken in Theft

Thief or thieves evidently were frightened when they broke into the Renfrow Ladies Ready to Wear store on Oak street in California, Mo., sometime Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning, because they walked out of a full shop, leaving everything except the cash register which contained about $15.

The cash register was an X-5 McCaskey and was valued at $165. H. T. Renfrow, proprietor, noticed the glass of the front door was broken when

Free Indonesia Has Trouble Growing Up

Indonesia's Swagger: Some of these soldiers look about 12 years old, although they're all over 16. To John Strohm, they acted like youngsters playing cops and robbers — with lethal weapons.

EDITOR'S NOTE: John Strohm, who gave the world its first word and picture story of life inside the Iron Curtain two and one-half years ago, has again gone to an area of prime news interest to bring the American newspaper readers the inside story of Southeast Asia. Here, on a "front" which diplomats regard as the most critical in the Cold War, Strohm has spent ten weeks getting the picture with typewriter and camera. He has visited nine countries and spoken with diplomats, officials, businessmen, soldiers and with Gen. Douglas MacArthur. This is the fourth of six dispatches in which Strohm outlines the dangers of the situation but indicates a possible long road to salvation and economic stability.

JAKARTA, Indonesia — Passing a jungle hut in Java, I was surprised to see the U. S. shield on gunny sacks doing duty as sun shades. I looked more closely and saw they bore the words Rice and Sugar.

Indonesia once fed itself and exported such items as rice and sugar. Today it must import to live. The U. S. recovery program has supplied $10,000,000 worth of rice.

Pre-war Indonesia was a storehouse of raw materials sought by the western world: Rubber, tea, tin, fibers, quinine. But rubber trees have been chopped down for charcoal, tea bushes have been uprooted to grow food, and many plantations are choked with the weeds and brush.

Now only five months old, Indonesia is having its growing pains. The infant nation is woefully under the responsibilities of its new independence. Its leaders are too few and too green for the tremendous tasks facing them.

A handful of able men are bravely trying to run what is now the seventh largest nation in the world. Indonesia embraces more than 2000 islands strung out over 3500 miles of ocean from Sumatra to New Guinea. Java, with 50,000,000 people, is the key island.

Judged by their ability to govern themselves, these islands have come to freedom too soon. The shortage of trained administrators is shocking. Half the area's qualified men were killed or otherwise lost in World War II. No replacements are coming up because Indonesian schools have been disrupted by war since 1941.

Recently President Achmed Sukarno demanded that the Dutch-held portion of New Guinea be handed to Indonesia before the year is out. A critic observed: "He's yelling for New Guinea, a cannibal land never subdued by any country, at a time when Java itself is a no man's land."

The United States of Indonesia is a federal union like our own. But the biggest state, the Republic of Indonesia occupying Java's eastern end, is trying to swallow all the others. And some of these states now want freedom from Indonesia.

Not Enough Rice: In fields like this, Indonesia once grew rice enough for export. Now it must import to stay alive.

For a time a Sumatra port had two governors, one named by the U. S. I., the other by the republic. Shipping and customs often are sadly confused. Police and military officials also get involved in the tangle.

A "top" government official estimated the amount of rubber in a warehouse at 14,000 tons. Foreign trade men knew the total was too high. An experienced European checked the warehouse and came up with a revised estimate: 550 tons.

The Indonesians have a grand plan for easing Java's population burden. They want to move 25,000,000, half the island's total, across to neighboring Sumatra, which is three times as big in area but still mostly undeveloped. I asked a Dutch adviser to the government how the plan struck him.

"Fantastic!" he exclaimed. "Why I've told them it took 100 years to resettle 35,000,000 people from Europe in the United States."

In many areas, rifles and grenades still rule. It was patriotic to shoot and kill during World War II, and then again in the revolt against the Dutch. The habit is hard to curb, and some 30,000 bandits still wander through the hills and jungles.

I tried to hire a car in Jakarta to visit a plantation 130 miles out. Every car owner turned me down. "Too dangerous," they said. They weren't concerned about me; they feared their cars would be stolen if I were ambushed.

(Since that time, Robert Doyle, a reporter for Time and Life, and Raymond Kennedy, a Yale university professor were killed in broad daylight on the very road the work 120,000 did before the war. Java's railroad boss has been told to hire 35,000 more men, though the lines don't need them.

In its economic plight, Indonesia desperately needs not only food but other consumer goods and machinery. Ragged tea pickers on one plantation work overtime for cotton cloth instead of money.

The country is frankly interested in trading with Japan, where it knows the capital equipment, textiles and other manufactured articles it wants are to be had. A Japanese-Indonesian association has been formed to promote closer ties.

The Dutch view this turn of events bitterly. They wish to continue trading with Indonesia themselves. And they blame the Japs for much of this country's present difficulty.

A $100,000,000 loan from the U. S. Export-Import Bank is giving Indonesia a start toward recovery. But Prime Minister Mohammed Hatta told me the nation needs further loans — up to $300,000,000.

Indonesian leaders agreed that labor is a key factor in future stability here. Right now workers are tying up factories with demands for 100 per cent wage boosts. Runaway inflation which has boomed living costs is their reason for striking.

The government has encouraged labor in some of its demands. Some plantation men are going along, too. One actually set a union official up in a rented office and provided him expenses. But foreign business men see the labor movement as rich ground for Communist agents. They fear the Reds will further agitate workers who figure they should get more money now that they have their freedom.

I got conflicting views about the dangers of Communism. It isn't a real force in the guerrilla activities thus far. Some think the people's Mohammedan faith will keep Indonesia out of the Red orbit.

Others, more objective, believe the country must quickly regain economic and political stability — get production up and order established — or slide into chaos. And they're afraid conditions will get worse before they can possibly get better.

Taft in Deal With Southern Democrats

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON.—Civil rights is the rock on which Abraham Lincoln founded the Republican party. Yet Senator Taft of Ohio, who is Mr. Republican himself, has just made a cold-blooded deal with southern Democrats to help them defeat civil rights.

Taft has promised to hold back enough Republican votes to prevent cloture—in other words, prevent the Senate from breaking the civil-rights filibuster. In return, Taft got southern votes to support him in blocking the proposed Truman-Herbert Hoover reorganization of the National Labor Relations Board.

Under present rules it requires 64 votes to break the filibuster—which means that every available northern Democrat and Republican must be present and vote for cloture. Therefore, if Taft can keep only four or five Republicans from voting, southern Senators will be able to talk civil rights to death.

This is exactly the deal which the Senator from Ohio made with Sen. Dick Russell of Georgia, the astute southern spokesman. The agreement has been kept a top political secret, and undoubtedly will be denied. However, other Senators were in on it, and this column has carefully confirmed the facts.

Taft not only estimated that he could keep at least six GOP Senators from voting to end the filibuster, but he actually named them. They are: Senators Millikin of Colorado, Malone of Nevada, Bridges of New Hampshire, Gurney of South Dakota, Young of North Dakota and Hickenlooper of Iowa—and two or three others might also be persuaded, Taft said.

Taft Goes in Reverse

In return, Senator Russell promised to give Taft a solid block of southern votes against the reorganization of the National Labor Relations Board, a plan which would have abolished the general counsel's office. The interesting thing about this reorganization is that it was not only proposed by Herbert Hoover, but one year ago it was also sponsored by Taft himself.

However, Robert Denham, the NLRB general counsel whose job would be abolished, has been a faithful follower of the Taft-Hartley act, so this year Taft reversed himself and fought tooth and nail to block NLRB reorganization.

Taft's trade with Senator Russell has already borne fruit regarding this part of the deal. For, last week, southern Democrats delivered a block of votes to defeat NLRB reorganization—with the exception of Senator Withers of Kentucky. He voted against Taft and for Truman.

Today it's Taft's turn to keep his part of the bargain. He himself will vote against the south and line up to break the filibuster in order to keep his record clean. He would be defeated for re-election in Ohio if he didn't.

However, the six GOP Senators whom Taft has said he would deliver to the southern Democrats have already expressed their views privately as against cloture. This is probably something which Taft did not tell Senator Russell.

For, in secret Republican councils, the above-mentioned six had argued against the principle of shutting off Senate debate. In fact, Taft had little to do with wooing them over to the other side.

Meanwhile, it is significant that Taft has been noticeably uncooperative in rounding up Republican votes against the filibuster, though fellow Republicans have not suspected the reason. Senator Wherry of Nebraska, on the other hand, has been quite active.

Dewey Backs a Roosevelt

No one would ever expect Governor Dewey to propose a Roosevelt for public office.

But, believe it or not, that's what Dewey did the other day. He sent word to Elliott Roosevelt, urging him to run for Congress from New York City against Rep. Vito Marcantonio of the American Labor party.

Dewey's message was brought to Elliott by Paul Lockwood, one of the governor's confidential secretaries, who promised that, if Elliott could get Tammany's backing, he would also have Republican support in running against Marcantonio.

Marcantonio has had pro-Communist support and represents the Puerto Rican-Negro district of New York which ordinarily would be hard for an outsider to carry. But just as young Franklin Roosevelt, then an outsider, was able to carry the 18th district, so it is believed Elliott could carry Marcantonio's district if he had support from Tammany and the Republicans.

Following Lockwood's proposal to Elliott, the latter conferred with Tammany leaders and their decision is expected shortly.

MONEY FOR RENT CONTROL—It now looks as if Congress would vote the necessary money to enable the office of housing expediter to continue rent-control enforcement until June 30. At present the office is strapped with a new appropriation blocked by Congressman Cannon of Elsbury, Mo., where housing is no problem. However, Congressman Sabath from crowded Chicago, chairman of the powerful House Rules committee, bluntly told Cannon: "I have given you a lot of rules in a hurry for legislation you wanted. How about putting this across for me in return?" Cannon has now relented.

FREE MAIL—Congressman Madden of Indiana has demanded an investigation of fellow Congressmen who permit their free franking privilege to be used for mailing propaganda. The probe is aimed at Congressman Gwinn of New York, General Eisenhower's pal, who has mailed out millions of propaganda letters for the real estate lobby—with the taxpayers footing the bill. Meanwhile, the post office runs in the red and postal service is curtailed.

CURB ON PRIVATE PLANES—Danger of surprise atomic raids may soon interfere with flights of private planes. CA Administrator Del Rentzel will ask Congress for new powers whereby no plane can make a flight without first checking with Civil Aeronautics. This is the first attempt by government to restrict the traditional right of Americans to travel wherever they please. The purpose is to safeguard the country from a surprise atomic attack, since present laws do not give CAA the authority to identify planes flying over the United States. The new powers would be used to check on all flights into the U.S.A. and over defense areas.

NEW A-BOMB BASES—Secretary Acheson and Foreign Minister Bevin have agreed on a plan for moving American B-29 atom bombers to new bases in Britain. As a precaution against a surprise Russian Pearl Harbor attack, the B-29s will be moved from their present coastal bases to airfields in the midlands. These planes are manned by specially picked American crews who will be on 24-hour duty ready to carry the A-bomb to Moscow—if necessary.

Government 'Welfare' Action Must be Fair to All Groups

By Bruce Bioassat

The times are few when a public statement by Bernard M. Baruch is not worth taking note of. His latest, on the dangers of big government, is especially thoughtful.

Baruch is a man of acknowledged deep human sympathies. He can't be accused of callous disregard of people, or of wishing to return to the days of too little government. He believes in "community responsibility for the individual welfare."

The question today, as he sees it, is not whether the government should take action on many problems. Government's expanded role is an established fact confirmed by nearly 20 years of history in this country. It's unlikely any narrowing of its sphere of action will occur.

To Baruch, the question is rather: "How can government's action be made fair and just to all?"

He asks: "Is the old 'let me alone' philosophy to be replaced by nothing better than a 'gimme mine' philosophy?"

His inquiry is direct to the point. It's not a matter of whether the government shall aid the farmers, the workers, the elderly citizens, the unemployed. The problem is how to help each of these groups without doing harm to others and to the public in general.

The easy assumption that any government action with the welfare of any group of human beings as its goal is necessarily justifiable just doesn't hold water. There is no automatic virtue in having the government take a hand.

The real test must always be the effect of any such action on the well-being and character of all citizens.

The present farm price support program is a good example. To protect farmers against adversity, which often strikes for reasons wholly beyond their control, the government guarantees them a good return on their crops. But this policy means higher food prices to the average consumer, it contributes markedly to the tax burden, and it has led to vast, wasteful accumulations of farm surpluses in warehouses all over the land.

This hardly meets Baruch's standard of government action "fair and just to all." The answer is not, of course, to stop helping farmers. It is to devise a saner policy, one that will afford reasonable protection yet be less wasteful, less damaging to the public treasury, and less demanding on the average man's pocketbook.

Not an easy assignment. But we're not living in a simple world. Baruch has helped make that clear by emphasizing that there is no magic in the words "government action." They aren't a sure-fire solution; they merely open the door to a new approach which may or may not work.

Keep Off Their Level

The United States has ordered Czechoslovakia to reduce its American diplomatic staff, in retaliation for the Czechs' insistence that we cut our embassy staff in Prague by two-thirds.

Assuming that Czech diplomatic personnel in this country is loyal to the Communist regime in Prague, no one could feel much regret at any impending departures. For the diplomatic corps of the satellite nations, like that of Russia itself, probably constitutes a cloak for diligent espionage activities.

It seems unfortunate, though, that we frequently feel we must resort to reprisals in matters of this sort. The technique smacks of small-boy revenge. It's the very kind of thing the Russians themselves can most be counted upon to do.

The less often we permit ourselves to be maneuvered into positions where we must take reprisal, the better it will be.

II Tim. 2:15; I Tim. 1:15, 16; 6:11—14

ATTENTION, MEekNESS, POWER

One of the most radiant persons I know, whose life story I shall tell later, has overcome an invalidism stretching back for 44 years, and has made of her bed a throne. Her room is the confessional of the city. She told me that the three words she is living by this year are: "Attention, meekness, power." She could not have fastened upon three more important words. So vital are these words that we are going to use them as three steps to a disciplined self. (1) Attention. What gets your attention is all-important, for whatever gets your attention gets you. If you give self your primary attention, self will be drawn to the center of your consciousness, and everything else will be arranged around self. "Arranged" around it? Disarranged around it? For to have self at the center is to have a cancer at the center, because cancer cells are cells that make other cells contribute to them, instead of making themselves contribute to other cells. A self-attentive person lives in a state of self-reference. "How will this affect me? What do I get out of this?" Such a person is disliked by others and is disliked by himself.

Decide, then, what shall have your primary attention. Decide, as you go into the shrine of your heart, to what you are going to bend the knee. If the Kingdom of God has your allegiance, then make your loyalty absolute. Don't say "Yes" and "No." Don't be what my friend calls a "Yes, but-ter." "I'll do it, but—" Let there be no "buts" anywhere. Put Christ once and for all at the center of your attention. Then you live in a state of Christ-reference instead of a state of self-reference. To shift the very basis of your life in this way will not be easy; the self will wriggle and twist and beg off and compromise—will do everything except abdicate. A pastor arose in our Ashram and said, "I see what I need, and I see that I don't want what I need." He still loved himself first, even amid the wreckage caused by that fact of self-love. But this resolve to center Christ in your life is a decisive decision. It is a decision that decides all decisions—a seed decision.

O my God, I have been out of focus, and all life's pictures have been blurred and distorted. But now I am getting into focus, and my pictures are becoming clearer—life looks different, for I am looking upon it differently. My eye is now single, and my whole body is now full of light. I am grateful—grateful. Amen.

Steady Diet of Comic Books Isn't Best Fare For Child

The experts seem to differ on whether or not comic books are bad for children.

But this much any parent knows. Give a child all the comic books he wants to read, and he won't be much interested in anything else. Like the satisfaction of any other appetite, overindulgence can lead to ill effects.

After a six-month diet on comic books, the average child doesn't want to read anything else. Put a book like "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer" in front of a boy and a comic book, too, and he'll take the comic book every time.

There doesn't seem to be any doubt that too much reading of comic books dulls a child's interest in good writing and stories that aim to teach him something about the world he lives in.

Will Put Aside Other Interests

Furthermore, give a child a stack of comic books and he will sit with his nose in them instead of getting out and playing with other children, or entertaining himself by tinkering, building, or joining the family group at whatever they are doing.

You can't even make a dent on the consciousness of a child engrossed in a comic book. He may hear the sound of your voice, but the words don't sink in.

He's off in a dream world, where he isn't learning anything or doing anything. And you can't get at him.

Sure, he's quiet—and that seems to be enough for a lot of parents. But what is a boy or girl going to be like when he is grown if the greater part of his formative years is spent in comic book dream-world?

Tests Show Mother's Milk Is Best For a New Baby

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

There is no doubt that the best food for a new-born infant is the mother's milk. When such feeding is possible there is no need to argue the value of other methods. This does not mean, however, that infants cannot grow well and stay healthy if they are fed artificially. Artificial feeding has been carried out successfully many, many times.

It does mean, however, that if one compared a large group of breast-fed infants with a large group of artificially-fed infants, the breast-fed group would gain more and be more healthy on the average than the artificially fed group.

The food needs of infants are great both from the standpoint of quality and quantity. Good modern infant care includes frequent weighing during the first few months. Any failure to gain weight because of insufficient intake would thus be discovered quickly.

Quality means what kinds of food are given. The starch, fat, protein, and mineral needs are excellently supplied in mother's milk. Even this, however, is frequently supplemented by giving an infant some orange juice and cod liver oil which supply important vitamins. In the artificially fed children, such additional substances besides the milk formula are even more desirable.

Cow milk which forms the basis of most artificially feeding formulas is somewhat different from human milk. It contains a larger amount of protein, a smaller amount of sugar, and there are some less important differences.

When artificial feedings are necessary, however, cow's milk, to which is added sugar in come

THE STORY: Gloria Brown, bride of four months, learns how to bake apple pie from her Brooklyn apartment neighbor, Mrs. Benoni. But the instruction is interrupted by the arrival of a hot box which seems to worry Mrs. Benoni. Then there's an also disturbing phone call from Mr. Benoni and a conversation about something in a newspaper that Gloria is unable to figure out even after she buys a paper. The next morning, two policemen appear and want to know about the Benonis. "They've skinned," says the officer of the law.

THE big cop glared at Gloria like a man who is forced to endure a moron, but hates it, and then turned to the assistant janitor, who was sweeping busily in the hall behind him. Funny, how all janitors seem to look alike, Gloria thought, grayish, gray hair, gray eyes, gray skin and gray, too-large overalls. The assistant janitors were paid so little here that they were always leaving and new ones exactly like them were engaged as replacements.

"Scram," the bigger policeman told the little janitor who scuttled away.

"You'd better come inside," Gloria said to the two officers. "Sit down and tell me what has happened."

"The Benonis aren't all that has skipped," the big cop told her grumpy as the two officers accepted her invitation. "So has an emerald necklace worth 20 grand. Necklace gone, jewel thieves gone. Two and two makes four."

Gloria gulped. "Jewel thieves!" The cop plainly discounted her astonishment. "Don't tell me you've never heard of Alida Strong, the actress, neither? It was her necklace. She wows 'em every night in 'The King's Mistress' on Broadway. You ain't seen it? Where were you raised, lady?"

"Boston," Gloria told him icily.

"Where cops have manners. I read in the paper about how Alida Strong wears emeralds every night in the big scene where she and her leading man fall in love and wrestle, but it isn't here, I assure you. If you can find any emeralds here, you're welcome to them. I'm going to take a bath."

"Hey, lady, you can't—" the big cop began, appalled. "I didn't mean to exactly say you had a hand in this—"

But she could and did. She swept by them furiously with a swish of her green chiffon skirts and began running the water in the tub. It was the wrong tactics indeed to use on a girl from Beacon Hill, Boston. Violence she might have pardoned, because after all, there had been Bunker Hill and the Boston Massacre, but insolence from a clod who split his infinitives—

She slammed the door, locked it, and as she lay in the warm, clear water, fragrant with the scent of the gardenia bath salts she had tipped into the tub, she wriggled her small perfect toes indignantly and listened to them opening up the apple compote Aunt Susie had sent for a wedding present, putting back the china lid, swishing among the clothes hanging in her closet. Finally, incredibly, they left and as the apartment door slammed shut behind them Gloria burst into tears.

SHE was sobbing so hard when she called Miltiades at the office that he couldn't make out what she said, and thought she was dying. He worked on lower Manhattan and usually it was hard for him to get off 10 minutes early, but this time he simply walked out of the office and into the subway and was home in 18 minutes flat.

Gloria flung herself into his comforting arms, jittering incoherently, for though she knew all the rules of unity, coherence, and emphasis in English narrative, she was no longer cum laude but merely a frightened, bewildered little girl in a green chiffon negligee which was slightly damp from tears.

Washington is 'The Capitol Of Indecision'

Baruch Denounced What He Terms the Shocking Immorality

NEW YORK, May 19 — (AP) — Bernard M. Baruch called Washington "the capital of indecision" last night in warning anew the United States can lose any future war by failure to plan mobilization now.

The financier and "elder statesman" also denounced what he termed the "shocking immorality" of proposing a standby manpower draft law without providing at the same time for the wartime draft of money, farms, factories and mines.

Baruch's address was delivered for a Columbia University Seminar on economic mobilization.

Red Mobilization Passes U. S.

"Today Soviet mobilization readiness surpasses our own," Baruch said. "That is one reason the diplomatic initiative in the cold war is being pressed by the Soviets x x x."

"These are the years of decision, which we now are passing through. Yet Washington today is the capital of indecision."

Recalling that it took two and one-half years for American production to reach a peak in World War II, Baruch asserted:

"There is only one war plan any aggressor can have—to seek to overwhelm us during that 'too little and too late' period while our military power is still 'on order.' x x x"

"To wait until bombs are falling before we begin to legislate may cause the loss of the war."

World War II Prolonged

Baruch said the "trial and error" planning methods of World War II prolonged the conflict by at least a year, added $100,000,000,000 (B) to the war's cost and left "hundreds of thousands killed and wounded needlessly."

"Although the cold war is now in its fifth year, we still lack the equivalent of a global strategy for peacemaking," Baruch said.

"We still lack the equivalent of a general staff to devise such a strategy and to direct the disposition of our strained resources for maximum effectiveness."

"We still lack 'total diplomacy' without totalling what the whole of the peacemaking requires in all parts of the globe—not just one area."

"We continue to dissipate our resources without decision."

"Against whom is the 'cold war' being fought? Reading the newspapers these days one would think we are waging the 'cold war' against the American people. Let us call a halt to this 'cold war' at home. Let us concentrate on winning the 'cold war' abroad."

Santa Fe Streamliner Hits Car, Two Killed

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 19—(AP)—A Santa Fe streamliner crashed into a car which apparently had lost its braking power tonight and two brothers were killed.

The dead were identified as: Jesse Robert Daley, 24, the driver.

Ernest Warren Daley, 30, who police said, apparently was an invalid.

They were thrown 50 feet in the air and the car's body, knocked from the chassis landed in a ditch 42 feet away.

Charles Martin Pitt, 68, Arkansas City, Kas., engineer of the northbound streamliner, said Daley was trying to avoid the crash.

"I saw the car coming south when I was a mile down the tracks," Pitt said. "I knew the driver was trying to stop. He was zig-zagging back and forth on the road. But he didn't seem to be getting any brake."

Outwitting the Armyworm

BERKELEY—(AP)—The western yellow-striped armyworm can be outmaneuvered if his tastes and life-cycle are known, reports graduate Robert van den Bosch of the University of California. Barriers of DDT check his advance, for one thing, but juggling the crops where he develops is another way to keep him "neutralized."

When the larvae are young they feed on many plants but prefer alfalfa and flaxseed. The latter is a common range plant in California. Van den Bosch reports the first brood early in the season needs large areas of flaxseed to get started. When the armyworms get going, they need alfalfa to spread through, even after they change into moths, he reports.

Sanction Cut In Taxes on Coal Industry

Committee Votes For Slash of Five To Ten Millions

By Francis M. LeMay

WASHINGTON, May 19—(P)—The House Ways and Means committee voted today to cut the taxes on the coal industry by $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 a year.

It was a further move away from the recommendations of President Truman. The president has urged that business taxes be increased, if changed at all, to make up for prospective losses in government revenue from cuts in excise taxes on such things as telephone and telegraph bills and travel tickets.

While the committee was going ahead with its bill-writing, an indirect question was raised by Senator George (D-Ga.) as to the final enactment of any tax cuts at all in this Congress session.

George did not put it on that basis, but he said in an interview that Congress must remain in session until the end of August if it is to complete action on tax legislation.

It is highly doubtful that the members of Congress will be willing to do that. This is an election year with political control of both the House and Senate at stake. Most Congress members are anxious to wind up this session in order to spend time on re-election campaigns.

George's views have particular importance because he is chairman of the Senate Finance committee which handles tax legislation.

Hearings Ahead
"Every new feature added to the tax bill in the House will diminish chances for favorable Senate consideration," George said. "The Senate Finance committee now must hold lengthy hearings on steps already taken by the ways and means committee and that will mean delay."

On coal, the House group's decision was to increase the depletion allowances from 5 per cent of gross income to 10 per cent.

The depletion allowance is a tax deduction permitted on the theory that the value of a coal mine is diminished by the removal of coal.

President Truman has said in effect that he will veto a tax bill if he thinks it cuts revenue too much.

The House committee has paid scant attention to that in working on its bill.

Calls Business Leaders to Help Mobilize Against War

WASHINGTON, May 19—(P)—W. Stuart Symington called on business leaders today for help in mobilizing the country against a warfare which, he said, already has progressed from spying and sabotage to the "shooting" stage. In his first address since becoming chairman of the National Resources Board, Symington told the committee for economic development (CED) that civil freedoms can be preserved in the mobilization planning. But he warned:

"Nothing is more important in this air-atomic age than to be ready. If we are not ready, this nation might never even have the chance to retaliate."

He told the organization of business planners that mobilization for the next war will be more rigid than ever in the past. Even "directed work" — government control of labor — may be necessary, he said.

But there is no reason why the country should not survive controls without permanent damage to liberties, the former secretary of the air force said.

Slightly Hurt In Auto Accident

Charles Lemons, 21, 314 North Quincy avenue, received slight bruises and lacerations to the left side of his head when a gray Buick sedan he was driving crashed into a high curbing on the corner of Sixteenth street and Grand avenue about 2:00 o'clock Friday morning.

Lemons stated he was driving east on Sixteenth street when his left front tire blew out causing him to lose control of the car. The car hit the southeast curbing and bounded over the sidewalk to strike a light pole in the driveway of the Howerton service station and then was thrown back into the street.

The car's grill and left side was smashed in and the body and wheels were twisted.

It is estimated that the damage would amount to over $500.

The Hamlin wrecker was called to tow the car to the station.

Woman in Woods Found

JOPLIN, Mo., May 19—(P)—A frail, 30-year-old mother of five children was found last night after wandering eight days and seven nights in rugged, wooded areas southwest of here.

She told officers she and her husband had a dispute May 9, and on May 10 she started walking to her sister's home near Racine, Mo., southwest of Joplin. Mrs. Gilstrap said she slept under culverts and in farm sheds, ate wild strawberries and begged food two or three times at farmhouses.

She was taken home by her husband.

Gather Flowers in The Rain For an Attractive Flower Show

Patriotic Table

The Fourth of July table was set with old fashioned dishes on a red and white table cloth. The blue plates had the pictures of George and Martha Washington and the place cards had small fireworks on them. A large centerpiece between two blue vases filled with white mock orange blossoms and snowballs in which were skyrockets, formed the centerpiece. For June the centerpiece was of lily-of-the-valley arranged with two large white tulips and on either side were white tapers in crystal holders.

At each place was a miniature arrangement of lily-of-the-valley and tulips hearts exactly like the centerpiece and bearing the names of an engaged couple as an announcement.

The October arrangement was a brass bowl filled with fruit and yellow candles in brass candlesticks. November, had a green wheelbarrow filled with fruit and at each place was a small wheelbarrow filled with candy. The last table, December, was a Christmas arrangement of pine boughs with cones, Christmas ornaments, berries and a large white candle.

Showering of Shrubs
Shrubs of various kinds were exhibited as well as many perennials and just a few roses. Two tables of African violets make a pretty display as do the luncheon arrangements of lilies in pottery. A very beautiful exhibit is that of madonna flower arrangements.

There are also corsages and arrangements in natural containers, such as driftwood, shells and many other ideas for flowers. Regardless of the rain and wind during the night the display of flowers is abundant and attractive.

The show will continue until 9:00 o'clock tonight.

States Secret Files Left Open

ST. LOUIS, May 19—(P)—Mrs. Sally H. Dewey, the woman who touched off a series of investigations of the army finance center here, says the center's secret files at one time were left open day and night.

The files contained the identity of hundreds of army counter intelligence agents, she said. The 49-year-old widow made her assertions after Karl Bendetsen, assistant secretary of the army, told the House armed services subcommittee in Washington the finance center "does not have strategically important information."

Mrs. Dewey, who says she once was an undercover CIC agent, said also the center handles records showing where soldiers are assigned and the location of army units.

"Mr. Bendetsen seems to know nothing about the center's operations except what he is told — and apparently they are not telling him much," she said.

Mrs. Dewey, who was fired from her job at the center after the investigations were started and then later reinstated, is scheduled to testify before the subcommittee.

The investigations followed the charges there was Communist infiltration at the center and general loose handling of administrative matters.

Support by Gov. Smith to Go to Allison

U.S. Senate next January. "Certainly President Truman, first citizen of the nation, is entitled to, and should have, the active support of a Senator from his home state in his great humanitarian program. He does not have that support from the present Senators from Missouri (Donnell and Sen. James P. Kem of Kansas City, both Republicans).

"While I welcome the support of President Truman and of Governor Smith, I realize that the people of Missouri are the judge and jury. I have already been in 42 counties of Missouri in the interest of my candidacy, and I shall continue to carry on the most active campaign possible in the effort to gain the support, the confidence and guidance from the people of this great state."

Hennings to 'Carry On'
Former Congressman Hennings, regarded as Allison's leading challenger, replied to the governor's endorsement with a statement of his own, released at his headquarters here.

"Of course I am continuing to carry this campaign to the people of Missouri in a free and open primary in keeping with the best tradition of the processes of our democratic government," Hennings said.

"I have complete confidence in the judgment of the voters of the state of Missouri."

"All indications of the strong support that I have received from all parts of Missouri convinces me that I am going to win."

Buying Flurry Gives Stocks Lift

NEW YORK, May 19—(P)—An afternoon flurry of buying raised the stock market a substantial lift today.

Gains of fractions to around two points were scored before demand tapered and a slight reaction developed. Final prices were a trifle under the best marks of the session.

Steels and motors were among the favored issues. Earlier in the market had warmed its way ahead, with buying on a highly selective basis. Gains were small and there was no drive behind the advance.

Business picked up speed as gains were extended and turnover approached a rate of 2,000,000 shares for the full session.

In addition to strength in steels and motors, a number of top-grade stocks in other categories pushed forward.

American Telephone reached a peak since 1947 and Consolidated Edison established a 1948-50 high.

Others marked up included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Sharon Steel, Jones and Laughlin, General Motors, Chrysler, Studebaker, Goodrich, Southern Pacific, Du Pont, Caterpillar Tractor, Anaconda Copper, Phelps Dodge, Santa Fe, Standard Oil (N.J.), Colgate Westinghouse Electric, Emerson, Radio, and Montgomery Ward.

Bonds were higher.

Don't Belittle

When Christ was on earth He spoke harshly only to the hypocritical and self-righteous. Once he vent His indignation on those who had converted the Temple into a market place. To no others did he ever speak unkindly or belittlingly.

Christ's forbearance toward even the weakest and most sinful should be a constant reproach to those who are addicted to the habit of belittling or humiliating their neighbors. The chronic belittler is one of the meanest types of petty sinner.

Whoever is apt to belittle the achievements, reputations or abilities of others betrays a woeful pride and vanity. Furthermore, whatever pretense he may make, he reveals all too clearly an uncharitable and covetous disposition.

The habit of belittling must not be confused with the serious and critical evaluation of the merits of another's work or character. If all criticism were wrong, there could be no honest book-reviewing, no objective appraisal of a work of art. There could be no legitimate expression of opinion regarding the folly or wisdom of human action.

Impartial and sincere criticism helps to enlarge human minds and improve society. But when the belittler goes into action the result is a two-fold evil. He demeans himself and he hurts another, perhaps one to whom he claims to be a friend.

It is easy to detect the belittler. He always thinks of disparaging things to say before expressing a word of commendation. If he hears someone praised, he can hardly wait to deflate him or his work. He thinks it is smart to be a chronic fault-finder.

The belittler is both a bore and a boor. He lacks the essential kindness and generosity of mind or heart which is the mark of the truly humble and good. It should be profitable for those who are inclined to belittle to reflect that one of the signs of spiritual nobility and distinction is the instinct to speak of others only in terms of praise and genuine good will.

Sunday School Lesson

Hebrew Prophets
Simplified Religion

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

The Hebrew prophet, Micah, lived in the eighth century before Christ, but from that far-off age, in the book of prophecy that bears his name, has come a simple, exact definition of religion that is among the most often quoted of Biblical precepts.

It is a definition of duty. As such it demands for the full definition of religion the gospel concerning the God who is the source of life and love and the true object of man's worship.

The gospel defines the Godward aspect of religion, but the manward aspect is set forth in these simple, adequate words: "He (God) hath showed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly and to love mercy and to walk humbly with thy God?" (Micah 6:8)

Beside it might be put the similarly simple and exact definition by James, the brother of Our Lord: "Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, to visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction and to keep himself unspotted from the world." (James 1:27)

James defines religion in particular and specific acts, but acts that are symbolic of the entire Christian spirit and attitude. The definition in Micah is in more general and all-inclusive terms. What is to be noted about these simple definitions of religion is that they stand in contrast to and in protest against, formal profession and elaborate practice of ritual that lacks the soul of sincerity and the reality of goodness in words and deeds.

In a similar way and in the same spirit, Amos had spoken even more strongly, as he observed the outward observance of religious forms and rites, that lacked the true response of the soul to the God of righteousness and truth. Amos represents the Lord as saying, "I hate, I despise your feast days, and I will not smell in your solemn assemblies," and demanding that judgment run down as waters and righteousness as a mighty stream. (Amos 5:21-24)

I am not a pessimist concerning the church and religious life today. I know too well the many devout souls, the sincerity of whose daily lives matches the sincerity of their devotion. I would that many who do not know the meaning or practice of worship might be brought into the house of God and the observance of religion.

Nevertheless, I think I see in many quarters a present emphasis upon the outward forms of worship that lacks emphasis upon inward grace and truth. I think we need to consider well the plain words of Micah and Amos.

"Soul and Body" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ Scientist, on Sunday, May 21. Golden text: Ps. 62:5. Among the citations which comprise the lesson sermon is the following from the Bible: "There is one body, and one Spirit, even as we are called in one hope of your calling." (Eph. 4:4). The lesson sermon also includes the following from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The identity, or idea, of all reality continues forever; but Spirit, or the divine Principle of all, is not in Spirit's formations. Soul is synonymous with Spirit, God, the creative, governing, infinite Principle outside of finite form, which forms only reflect." (p. 71).

Gulf of California Has Rare Fish

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—The Gulf of California may some day be a great commercial fishing area, says Dr. Boyd Walker of the University of California at Los Angeles.

Little is known about the fish in the Gulf, he says. On a recent trip he brought back a large catch. Among those first examined he found 38 species and said 11 had never before been identified. Both the known and unknown species might well become important food sources in the future, he says.
